18 U.S.C. § 1151, referred to at Section 2, defines "Indian country" to include "(a) all land within the limits of any Indian reservation under the jurisdiction of the United States government, notwithstanding the issuance of any patent, and including rights-of-way running through the reservation, (b) all dependent Indian communities within the borders of the United States whether within the original or subsequently acquired territory thereof, and whether within or without the limits of a state, and (c) all Indian allotments, the Indian titles to which have not been extinguished, including rights-of-way running through the same.” Although this definition by its terms relates only to federal criminal jurisdiction, the U.S. Supreme Court has recognized that it also generally applies to questions of civil jurisdiction.
