

New FCP Associate Judge Sworn In

by Val Niehaus

On Dec. 17, 2017, the new Forest County Potawatomi (FCP) Associate Judge Angela Moe was sworn in at 10 a.m. at the FCP Tribal Courtroom by FCP Chief Judge Eugene "Fugie" White-Fish. White-Fish spoke of how this position is to be held with great respect in the community. He says, "I know it can be difficult for people to not address Angela by her name but from now on, she should be addressed as Your Honor or Judge Moe because that's the title she now holds. It's not in honor of her as a person, but rather it is in respect for her position."

Christian Daniels, FCP Associate Judge, gave a prayer before the swearing in proceeded. He also gave Moe some words of wisdom and encouragement since he has been in this position since 2014. He told Moe, "Some of the cases you will hear aren't going to be easy. Our court primarily deals with families, and when you have to make those decisions, it's going to weigh on you. Often times I think about that because I can't just leave it here (at court) - even when I go home or to my prayer circles. I think about those people and I pray for them. It's hard to not just leave that at work and go home because this is our community and we are trying to do our best for them. The family support you have here you're going to need through these six years. My prayer for you is to find that balance between being a judge and your everyday life because it's a whole new step in your life now. I know you're going to do your best as every judge does."

Judge Moe will be in this role for a term that runs for the next six years. This is definitely not just a brief time to be in such a physically- and emotionally-demanding position. She will be in training for the next two years and will be receiving education for this position at The National Judicial College in Reno, Nev. She will learn in depth the FCP constitution, the rules of the court and the Indian Civil Rights Act. In time, it will all become second nature to her. She will learn everything she needs to know to enable her to be a judge of high standards and to help enforce the laws provided in these documents. After these two years, she will then slowly but surely start taking the bench along with Judge White-Fish and Judge Daniels and will gradually become adapted to her role in this judicial system.

Judge Moe could not be more excited and passionate about starting this new venture at this point in her life. As was said in her campaign letter: "This position in one of integrity, compassion and empathy. More importantly, it is about justice, protection, enacting our sovereignty, and upholding our Tribal Constitution." Judge Moe has worked hard to get elected to this position and is looking forward to dealing with the challenges that she knows she will face in serving the role of associate judge. Moe stated, "I want to thank everyone who supported me and who came out to vote! I am humbled to have been elected as your new FCP Associate Judge, and I hold this position with great honor and responsibility. Thank you to my whole family as well! I couldn't have done it without any of you!"

PTT congratulates Judge Moe on her win and the best of luck in her new position!

Potawatomi Hotel Expansion Groundbreaking

The Potawatomi Hotel expansion project has officially begun! The expansion will consist of a second 19-story tower, creating an “L” shape with the existing tower. This tower will house 119 rooms and suites, bringing the total room count to 500, as well as additional meeting space and a spa.

Greenfire Management Services is partnering with Gilbane Building Company to manage the construction of the 180,000 square-foot addition. Greenfire and Gilbane also partnered together for the construction of the first tower, which was completed in August of 2014.

A Groundbreaking Ceremony was held on Thursday, December 14th. The celebration began with a tribal song of welcome followed by a tribal blessing given by Forest County Potawatomi Elder and Executive Council Treasurer, Joe Daniels Sr. Additional remarks were given by Potawatomi Hotel & Casino CEO, Rodney Ferguson; Forest County Potawatomi Chairman, Harold “Gus” Frank; City of Milwaukee Mayor, Tom Barrett; Gilbane Senior Vice President, Adam Jelen; and Greenfire Management Services President, Kip Ritchie.

“Greenfire looks forward to participating on this exciting construction project and is grateful for our mentor-protégé relationship with Gilbane Building Company,” said Kip Ritchie, President of Greenfire Management Services. “Projects of this stature provide Greenfire with the opportunity to learn, hone our capabilities, build capacity and obtain valuable experience. Working side-by-side with the professional and respected staff at Gilbane is an absolute thrill. Thank you to the Forest County Potawatomi and the Potawatomi Hotel & Casino for giving us this opportunity.”

The second tower is expected to open in the spring of 2019. Once complete, Potawatomi Hotel & Casino will be the second largest hotel in the City of Milwaukee.

Congratulations to the Forest County Potawatomi, Potawatomi Hotel & Casino and all of those involved in this magnificent project!

FCP Tribal Court Clerks Certified in Court Management

submitted by Tina Bushong, Clerk of Court

On Oct. 27, 2017, FCP Clerk of Court Tina Bushong and Deputy Clerk Tara Kress were both awarded certificates of completion in Court Management. The three-day training was held in Baraboo, Wis., and was funded through a grant obtained by the Ho-Chunk Nation. Twenty clerks from eight different Wisconsin tribes attended the training.

This was a great opportunity for our tribal court clerks to get a more in-depth understanding in the management of a court system and to develop policy for an enhanced court operation. The course also provided the clerks with skills to better evaluate the impact of traditions and custom on court operations and the ability to more efficiently organize tribal court in order to provide justice to individual litigants.

Instructors for the training were the Hon. Ramona Tsosie and Attorney Christine Folsom. Judge Tsosie is a member of the Fort Mojave Indian Tribe in Needles, Calif., and currently serves as pro tem judge for the Las Vegas Paiute Tribe in Las Vegas, Nev. Attorney Folsom is an enrolled member of the Choctaw Nation, a Tribal Court consultant, and member of the faculty of The National Judicial College.

FCP Elder and Wife Celebrate Anniversary with Trip Around the World

submitted by Wesley and Theresa Tribbett

It all started with an anniversary gift from our daughter, Michelle Helms, for our 45th wedding anniversary. It has always been Wes' dream to go to Tahiti and Michelle knew that. She bought us a 12-day cruise from Honolulu to Tahiti. What a wonderful surprise it was!

This was a one-way cruise. Final stop was Papeete, Tahiti. So we had to get a flight from Tahiti back to Cape Coral, Fla. After much contemplating, Wesley woke up one morning and had "a light bulb moment". He said, "Instead of flying from Tahiti to L.A. to Fort Myers, why not go the other way and take a trip around the world?" So that is what we did. It took several months of planning. But on Oct. 12, 2017, we were ready for our adventure - a little nervous because of all the countries we were going to visit and all the flights we were going to take, but very, very excited! It was time to see if all the planning we did, would happen as we had hoped.

The cruise took us from Oahu to Maui and Kauai and then on to the South Pacific. Four days cruising at sea, the beautiful blue waters of the Pacific Ocean. Before we got to Tahiti, we stopped at Bora Bora, Nuka Hiva, Fakarava, and Mo'orea, some of the beautiful tropical islands of the French Polynesia.

We ate more food than anyone should eat on the cruise ship. We met many people from all around the world, saw great shows, and just had a very relaxing time.

One of the highlights of our trip was being in Tahiti. We met William Leeteg and took a tour of the beautiful island of Tahiti. Wesley has a painting of a beautiful Tahitian woman that belonged to his father, Norman Tribbett. It was painted on black velvet by Edgar Leeteg, the father of William Leeteg, before WWII. It was a pleasure to meet him and talk about his father and the painting.

The countries that we traveled to during our trip around the world started in our beautiful state of Hawaii, followed by French Polynesia, New Zealand, Thailand, Greece, Italy, Germany, Switzerland and England. Our final stop in the USA was New York before arriving home in sunny southern Cape Coral, Fla.

In New York, we got to see the Statue of Liberty and the 911 Memorial, the Freedom Tower and Infinity Pools. Such an honor and privilege to be an American and live in this wonderful country.

We saw castles in Germany, the Parthenon in Greece, and had a beautiful view of the Swiss Alps from our airplane. We ate gelato (Italian ice cream) before breakfast in Venice, Italy. Auckland, New Zealand, in many ways, reminded us of Wisconsin because of the terrain and the large herds of cattle. Wes even did good driving on the left side of the road with the steering wheel on the right in New Zealand.

Another highlight of our trip was visiting our friends in Thailand, Bobby and Latee Rollins. They were so gracious and showed us many of the sites in northern Thailand. We saw the Golden Palace, rode in a tuktuk (three-wheeled open-air taxi), visited the Golden Triangle to name just a few highlights. We saw temples and the huge Buddhas that many of the Thai people worship. And I can't forget to mention how amazing the food was! We definitely hope to go back there someday.

So within 32 days-time, we visited nine countries, went on 17 different flights, stayed in 10 hotels, traveled over 27,000 miles. Needless to say, we were glad to get home.

But once again, we do thank our daughter for giving us the cruise to Tahiti, which started the beginning of this wonderful and once-in-a-lifetime trip.

Potential Human Health Risks with Chronic Wasting Disease

submitted by Sam Schratz, FCPC Natural Resources Biologist – Wildlife

Chronic Wasting Disease (CWD) is a disease that is deadly to members of the deer family such as white-tailed deer, elk, and moose. It is spread through prions present in feces, saliva, blood, and urine of infected animals and is most effectively spread when aerosolized, such as through sneezing or coughing. In Wisconsin, it's been found in deer in 23 counties, including Oneida, Marathon, and Oconto. FCPC property in Shawano County neighbors the Oconto County CWD-positive location.

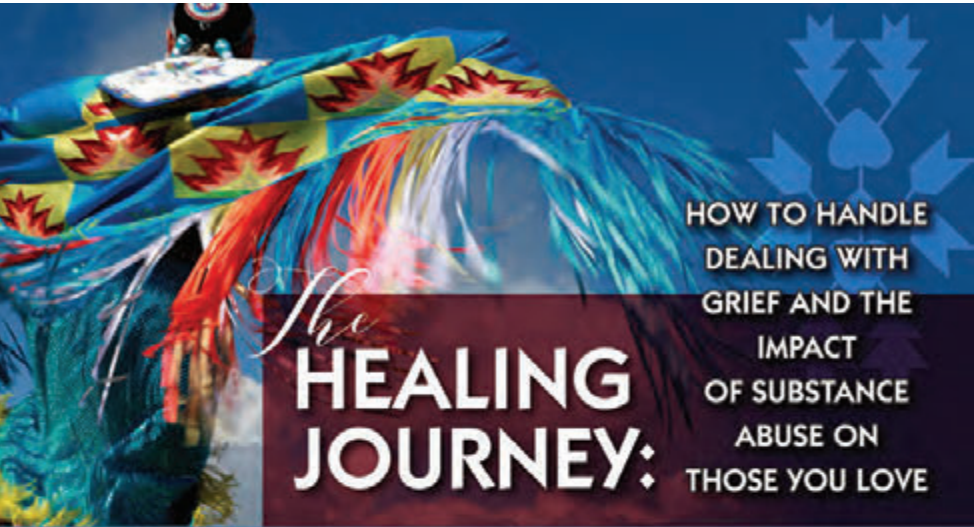

This summer, a group of CWD researchers announced they had documented macaques, a type of monkey, getting CWD after eating meat or brain tissue from infected deer and elk. Some of the meat came from asymptomatic deer, meaning infected deer that appeared healthy and had not yet shown any signs of being sick.

It's important to note that, so far, there have been no confirmed cases of CWD in people. Since humans are distantly related to and genetically very similar to macaques, we should exercise caution when considering the consumption of any meat from white-tailed deer, elk, or moose. FCPC Natural Resource staff are trained to take samples from white-tailed deer for CWD testing. If you are a tribal member and would like to have your animal tested, please bring your specimen (only the head is needed) to the Natural Resources office on 5320 Wensaut Lane, Monday – Thursday, 8 a.m. – 4 p.m. If you have any questions, please call the office at (715) 478-7222.

FCP Community RECREATION CENTER Project

According to the 2012 Community Survey, 86% of adult Tribal Member respondents were in favor of a large sports recreation center and developing more activities for the youth.

In 2017, more than 30% of the adult and youth community members living in Crandon, Laona and Carter were surveyed. The input thus far has helped us to strategically understand where the new center will be located and what types of activities will be available.

On May 15, 2017, Executive Council designated a site for the new Community Recreation Center. With input collected thus far, designers are beginning to sketch out ideas. The architects and designers are at the very early stages of their work and need guidance and input to create a place that will best meet the needs of the community.

Interested community members are encouraged to attend an engagement session to discuss the new Community Recreation Center. There will be a brief presentation of the project, and then attendees will break into small groups so all can be heard.

Statement from the Chair

Menominee Tribe Addresses Mine Project's Wetlands Issues

submitted by Melissa Cook, Intergovernmental Affairs Manager

KESHENA, Wis. (Dec. 12, 2017)
—The Menominee Tribe of Wisconsin is urging people to make their views known as the Back Forty Mine proposal enters the wetland permitting phase.

The Tribe has been vocal about its objection to the open-pit mine project and to the State of Michigan exercising Clean Water Act jurisdiction over the permit that would allow mine developers to fill and excavate Menominee River wetlands.

Last week, the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ) determined that mine developer Aquila Resources, Inc.'s Michigan wetlands permit application was administratively complete — despite the fact that components of the application previously deemed necessary are still missing or incomplete. MDEQ has allowed minimal time for the public to review the voluminous application or to raise issues and make comments — with a single public hearing on the permit scheduled for Jan. 23, 2018, at 6 p.m. at Stephenson High School, W526 Division Street, Stephenson, Mich., in the small gym.

Following the public hearing, the record will remain open for 10 days for additional, written comments.

For its part, the Menominee Tribe is thoroughly reviewing the application and preparing both written and verbal testimony. “It is the Menominee Tribe’s position that the MDEQ lacks jurisdiction and authority to oversee or issue the wetlands permit required by the federal Clean Water Act,” said Gary Besaw, Chairman of the Menominee Indian Tribe of Wisconsin. “Thus, any action taken by the MDEQ can only be done to satisfy applicable Michigan requirements, and a separate, federal wetlands permit for the project is required under the Clean Water Act.”

The Tribe has made its objections clear at every step of the permitting process for this open-pit mine and large, industrial minerals-processing facility. The proposed site borders the Menominee River. The Back Forty Mine project would destroy wetlands and forestland, and is located within a Menominee cultural landscape that includes tribal burial grounds, ancient agricultural sites and ceremonial sites of cultural significance to the Menominee Tribe.

The wetlands permit is of great concern because, under the current proposal, the mine pit would span 84 acres and be 750 feet deep, reaching far beneath the river’s natural waterline. According to the mine developer’s own statements in the environmental assessment, it has the potential to negatively affect hydrology throughout the area for years.

The Menominee Tribe’s view is that the Clean Water Act makes it clear that the Menominee River and its adjacent wetlands are federal waters which cannot be legally controlled solely by the State of Michigan, making MDEQ the wrong agency to determine the future of this permit.

On Nov. 6, 2017, the Menominee Tribe, represented by Earthjustice, provided the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency a 60-day notice of intent to sue the agencies for their failure to take responsibility for this portion of the permitting process.

The Clean Water Act’s 60-day advance-notice requirement is designed to allow the parties to work through issues prior to engaging in litigation. The federal agencies have until early January to act, or the Menominee Tribe is prepared to pursue federal litigation on these critical wetlands issues.

Native Americans Again Seek to Protect their Right to Vote

submitted by Matt Campbell, NARF Staff Attorney

BISMARCK, N.D. (Dec. 13, 2017)
— The Native American Rights Fund again brought action against the state of North Dakota seeking to overturn North Dakota’s newest discriminatory voter ID law. NARF filed an amended complaint on behalf of Native American Plaintiffs impacted by the discriminatory law. Last year, NARF fought on behalf of Native American Plaintiffs to enjoin enforcement of North Dakota’s voter ID law, which disproportionately prevented Native Americans from exercising their right to vote. In that action, Judge Daniel L. Hovland of the U.S. District Court for the District of North Dakota found “[i]t is undisputed that the more severe conditions in which Native Americans live translates to disproportionate burdens when it comes to complying with the new voter ID laws.” Judge Hovland, therefore, held the law likely violated the U.S. Constitution because it disproportionately kept Native Americans from voting and required the state to provide a fail-safe mechanism for those without IDs in the 2016 general election. Judge Hovland wrote, “it is clear that a safety net is needed for those voters who simply cannot obtain a qualifying voter ID with reasonable effort.”

In light of this defeat, the legislature amended their law earlier this year, but the new law failed to include meaningful protections for voters’ rights. Plaintiffs Richard Brakebill, Dorothy Herman, Della Merrick, Elvis Norquay, Ray Norquay, and Lucille Vivier amended their suit, which now challenges this recently enacted voter ID law, HB 1369. HB 1369 ignores the problems Judge Hovland identified in his previous opinion and perpetuates voter suppression tactics by requiring every voter to possess a narrowly-prescribed form of ID. It also lacks the necessary fail-safe provisions that would ensure that qualified voters are not denied their right to vote. The Legislature passed these provisions despite knowing they would suppress the Native American vote. This law was implemented in order to deny qualified Native American voters access to the ballot box. The right to vote is a fundamental right in any democracy, and the Native American Rights Fund is committed to ensuring that our democratic values are protected. As NARF Staff Attorney Matt Campbell explains, “voting is a fundamental, constitutionally-protected right, and we intend to protect that right. The North Dakota legislature was fully aware the impact this law would have on the Native population in North Dakota. Yet, they passed the law anyway.”

Fighting voter suppression has never been more timely or important. This year, North Dakota reduced the hours of the Drivers License Site — where voter IDs can be obtained — that is closest to Plaintiffs. That site now operates the most restrictive hours of any location; it is open for less than five hours one day a month. There is not a single Driver’s License Site on an Indian reservation in North Dakota. Native Americans on the Lake Traverse Reservation, Fort Berthold Reservation, and Standing Rock Reservations have to travel an average of almost an hour just to access a Drivers License Site, some of which are only open for very limited hours.

The North Dakota legislature had an opportunity to address the real problem with voting in the state — voter disenfranchisement. Instead, it continues to chase the ghosts of illegal voters, an imagined problem — without providing any evidence whatsoever that such voter impersonation exists. In the course of litigation and in the three consecutive legislative sessions where voting bills were considered, there has simply been no demonstration that people are casting illegal ballots. As Judge Hovland noted, voter fraud in North Dakota “has been virtually non-existent.” But the difficulties for Native Americans seeking to obtain IDs are very real. And the North Dakota legislature has used the fact that Native Americans in North Dakota disproportionately lack IDs to craft a discriminatory law intended to keep Native Americans from casting their ballot.

NARF will continue to fight against these unconstitutional laws that insult the very fiber of our democracy. The government should not create unnecessary obstacles for qualified citizens to vote. And we, as a nation, must fight to ensure that every American is given the opportunity to vote in every election.

The plaintiffs are represented by the Native American Rights Fund (“NARF”), Richard de Bodo of Morgan, Lewis & Bockius LLP, and Tom Dickson of the Dickson Law Office.

About NARF:

The Native American Rights Fund is the oldest and largest nonprofit national Indian rights legal services organization in the country. Since its inception in 1970, NARF has represented over 275 Tribes in 31 states in such areas as tribal jurisdiction and recognition, land claims, hunting and fishing rights, the protection of Indian religious freedom, and many others. This legal advocacy on behalf of Native Americans continues to play a vital role in the survival of tribes and their way of life. For more information, visit www.narf.org.

Potawatomi Hotel & Casino Breaks Ground on Hotel Expansion

submitted by Abbey Miller, PHC Public Relations Specialist

MILWAUKEE (Dec. 14, 2017) – Potawatomi Hotel & Casino (PHC) celebrated construction kick-off of a second tower during a ceremonial groundbreaking. The event included entertainment, comments from city, tribal and organizational leadership as well as the traditional sod-turning ceremony. The project represents another $80 million investment in the community.

The second tower will house 119 rooms and suites, bringing the hotel's total number to 500. The 180,000-square-foot addition will also feature a spa and additional meeting space. It is expected to open in the spring of 2019.

"The Forest County Potawatomi have committed to investing in Milwaukee with this next addition and we couldn't be more excited to have the project underway," said PHC Chief Executive Officer Rodney Ferguson. "In addition to accommodating our guests, the project will create hundreds of jobs on the construction site and dozens of permanent positions within the hotel."

It is anticipated that 50 permanent hotel jobs will be created as part of the project. The property currently employs nearly 2,700, making it one of the top-25 employers in the Milwaukee area.

The project will also spur additional revenue for the city and county of Milwaukee, VISIT Milwaukee and the state of Wisconsin from property, sales, exposition and personal income taxes. The property has submitted more than $100 million in revenue-sharing payments to the city of Milwaukee and Milwaukee County over the past decade.

Since opening in 2014, the property's hotel has been overwhelmingly popular with casino guests. The addition will provide an even mix of both standard rooms and suites.

PHC opened in 1991 as a bingo hall. After several expansions, the property is now the most visited entertainment destination in Wisconsin with more than six million visits annually. It features 2,500 slot machines, nearly 100 table games, a 1,300-seat bingo hall, seven restaurants and a 500-seat theater.
