2023 North American Indigenous Games

by Amber Haseman

After a six-year wait, the 10th North American Indigenous Games (NAIG) were held in Kjipuktuk (Halifax), Nova Scotia, July 15-22. Pijila'si flags and signs were displayed throughout the community welcoming visitors from across Turtle Island (North America) to the 2023 games. More than 5,000 athletes, coaches, teams and staff from over 750 Indigenous Nations came together to celebrate this years' events and competitions.

Celebrating culture is a large part of the games. With Nova Scotia being home to the Mi'kmaw people, their culture was incorporated throughout the events. Values, customs, and traditions were expressed through art, music, spirituality, and language.

The general area for this was the Cultural Village. Located in the Halifax Common, the village offered a variety of food trucks, wigwams, sacred fire, and several cultural demonstrations featuring drum-making, basket-weaving and sacred medicines. Throughout the event, approximately 40 mainstage performers entertained visitors. A marketplace featured 50 Indigenous artists and artisans, showcasing their jewelry, beadwork, clothing, NAIG apparel, crafts and more.

As everyone was settling into their hotel rooms and getting ready for the evening after an eventful weekend of exploring, shopping, and delicious food, there was one last thing on their agenda before Monday's competition. Family, friends, and spectators across North America, joined the streets of downtown Halifax to watch the athletes parade the streets, making their way to the Opening Ceremony at Scotiabank Centre. Each team entered the arena with smiles on their faces, proudly representing their home nations and regions.

Teams across the continent kicked-off a week of sport, culture and celebration with Mi'kmaq culture and tradition. The ceremony was a wonderful opportunity for the athletes to come together as one, celebrate the language, traditions, wisdom, and culture of the Mi'kmaq Nations. Over a dozen performers and speakers joined in welcoming the athletes, their families and friends. Although it was a late night for all, the arena was ready for the games to begin!

Competitions began Monday morning. They were held across 21 venues throughout Nova Scotia in the areas of Halifax, Dartmouth, Millbrook First Nation and Sipekne'katik. The venues held a total of 16 sports including baseball, softball, volleyball, track and field, swim, wrestling and more. Our athletes performed at the Dauphinee Centre, which hosted the wrestling competitions, Canada Game Centre for Volleyball, Dalplex featuring an eight-lane, 50-meter pool for swimming competitions, Halifax Common hosting softball competitions, Bedford Hammonds Plains Community Center for basketball, and Beazley Complex, featuring an eightlane, 400-meter track and baseball diamond for track and baseball.

Aside from the humidity, heat, rain, thunderstorms, and flood warnings, the competitions held strong. It was an extremely competitive week for the athletes. They worked hard and gave it everything they had, leaving it out on the field. You could feel the emotion and excitement throughout the crowd. The support each athlete shared with one another was indescribable. They came together as one in team spirit, support, unity, and strength. They hyped each other up, supported one another and shared this time together as one. They created new friendships, learned about their culture, danced like no one was watching, shared laughter, tears, excitement, and joy, and made memories that will last a lifetime. It was an experience unlike any other and one they'll never forget.

As the week came to an end, the athletes reflect on how far they've come since the very first day and all the achievements they have made. They fought their hearts out and performed to the best of their ability, leaving it all in Halifax. Although Team Wisconsin was much smaller than some of the Canadian teams, Wisconsin stood tall with approximately 250 athletes who participated in the games this year.

Twelve of the athletes represented Forest County Potawatomi including: Ryker Schingeck, LaVara and Nate Gilpin, Omar and Elyssa Bailey, Isabel and Lucy Young, Frank and Brady Shepard, Abishea Winnicki, Asalia Williams and Elias Glinski. Team Wisconsin brought home a total of 56 medals – 21 gold, 18 silver and 17 bronze. They ranked seventh in the games and were the highest-ranking U.S. team.

OBITUARY

Josephine "JoJo" Rose Alloway

Josephine "JoJo" Rose Alloway of Crandon passed away unexpectedly on July 24, 2023, at home. She was born May 25, 1977, to Edward Sr. and Gloria (Llanas) Alloway in Milwaukee.

JoJo was very artistic, expressing herself through her Native American regalia and beadwork. She was once offered a job as an instructor for beadwork, of which she was immensely proud. She enjoyed attending powwows, camping; following the powwow trail, cooking especially fry bread and chili (but she couldn't make biscuits jokingly stated by her family). Later in life, she became a talented seamstress. She liked to take an occasional trip to the casino to play Keno. Her laugh was infectious, and personality was large. More than anything else, her family was of utmost importance to her.

Surviving JoJo is her mother Gloria Alloway; daughters: Grace Alloway, Juanita Alloway, Sophrona Malone, Autumn Malone, Yolonda Alloway; sons: William (Tricia) Alloway, Joseph Alloway, Santos

Alloway, Sisters Consquela Alloway, Dina (Ronald) Lemieux; brother Edward Alloway Jr.; 10 grandchildren, as well as many nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her father Edward Alloway Sr.; sister Tanya Alloway; and nephew Howard Lemieux.

Visitation was held at the Forest County Potawatomi Cultural Center on July 26, 2023 with services being held on July 27, 2023, at the Cultural Center with Mr. Joe Daniels presiding.

Online condolences can be made by visiting www.weberhillfuneralhome.com

Deadline for the Sept. 1, 2023, issue of the PT is Wednesday, Aug. 23, 2023.

Daniels Wins Again!

submitted by Lindsay Daniels, photos Roman Photography

FCP tribal member and Wisconsin Middleweight State Champion, Mark Daniels Jr., has done it again! On July 22, 2023, Mark fought his first fight in a new weight division at the Riverside Ballroom in Green Bay, Wis. His opponent was the seasoned Super Middleweight boxer out of Kansas City, Mo., Antonio Louis Hernandez. This was Mark's toughest challenge yet, going the distance with a total of six rounds. Two judges scored in favor of Daniels and one scored the battle a draw, bringing Mark out on top with the majority decision WIN!

This was a great start to Daniels's jump into the new weight division and his next fight has already been slated for November 11, 2023! The fight will take place at the Marinette Recreation Center in Marinette, Wis. Daniels will be fighting for the International Boxing Organization Championship Title!

Daniels's Boxing career is taking off, and there are so many people and organizations that have played a tremendous role in helping him achieve his dreams. First and foremost, Daniels always wants to thank the creator for all of the blessings and ability to do what he loves, his family, friends, and fans for all of the continued support and love with every wellwish, good luck, and congratulations sent his way. Second, Mark thanks his team: Cainen Shooter, Cleveland Holmes, Ryon Alloway, newly added Coach Eric Dixon, Skylar Thompson of International Boxing Promotions, lian Zoellner of Zoellner Media, Rafael Roman of Roman Photographer, Drop Out Fight Club, Zach Harley, Nathan Ante and the singers/drummers of Bad River, Brooks Boyd Sr., Reddman Lemieux, and Brevin Boyd Sr. Next, Mark is always grateful for the support of the FCP General Council and Potawatomi Community Center, and his sponsors: Yeti's Drive In, Alloway Outdoors, Locate-N-Eliminate, and Wall-R-Us. Mark would also like to thank Eugene Webster Jr. for his gift of a new Dog Soldier headdress specially made for his son, Marley Daniels.

Keep your eye on this guy, he is going straight to the top!

Potawatomi Gathering of Nations 2023

by Val Niehaus

Hosted by the Nottawaseppi Huron Band of the Potawatomi (NHBP), on the Pine Creek Reservation and FireKeepers Casino near Fulton, Mich., this year's Gathering of Potawatomi Nations kicked off on July 24 and ended on July 29, 2023.

The Gathering of Potawatomi Nations is hosted each summer by one of the nine tribes of Potawatomi, providing an opportunity for members of all tribes to come together and celebrate their Potawatomi heritage. It includes a language conference, cultural workshops, youth events, crafting classes, sporting events, and language classes.

The Gathering begins with the lighting of the fire that burns for four days. The first day often begins with a tribal council meeting between officials in attendance. A sunrise ceremony is held each morning, giving members from different Potawatomi communities an opportunity to meet and connect with one another. The Gathering has myriad activities for all ages and interests.

Each host community facilitates Potawatomi Gathering in their own unique way, highlighting their heritage and teaching other tribes the facets of their culture that distinguish them from other Potawatomi communities. Source:
www.potawatomiheritage.com/encyclopedia/gathering-of-potawatomi-nations

The nine tribes include U.S. Tribes: Citizen Potawatomi Nation, Prairie Band of Potawatomi Indians, Hannahville Indian Community, Forest County Potawatomi, Math-e-benash-she-wish Band of Pottawatomi Indian of Michigan (Gun Lake Tribe), Pokagon Band of Potawatomi Indians, Nottawaseppi Huron Band of Potawatomi. Canadians First Nations: Walpole Island First Nation (Bkejwanong), Wasauksing First Nation. Since 2010, Potawatomi Leaders recognized to more Canadian First Nation tribes, Beausoleil First Nation (G'Chimnissing) and Chippewas of Nawash (Cape Coker).

The week started off with the opening of the language conference. This is a highlight to many First Nations people as it provides opportunities and resources to keep their Native language flowing through history. As the elders say, "Our language is who we are."

During the language conference, participants learned about a variety of language-based activities such as Potawatomi Voices of History Project: Elders & Ogitchidaw, Language Conference: Youth Track, Youth Music & Laughter Therapy, and a Red Road Meeting. To end it the final night, there was a Super Mario Brothers

Once the two-day language conference wrapped up, it was then time to start engaging in the cultural workshops that many look forward to. It's also a time for relaxing, meeting up with old friends, or meeting new ones.

Wednesday, July 26, started with the Sunrise Ceremony, followed later by a FireKeeper Conference. Other activities this day included Canoe Tours, Youth Shishibé, Golf Outing, Elders Picnic & Shishibé, Youth Fitness & Fun, a Cooking Competition, an Archaeological Workshop, a tour of the Pine Creek Indian Reservation, LGTBQ Listening & Learning Circle and an AA Meeting was held to end the evening.

Thursday, July 27, many events were the same as the day before, but a few new ones included Judicial Conference, Art Gala, Tie-Dye Tent for Youth, Tribal Council Summit, Guided Meditation, and a Cedar Oil Distilling Demonstration. Many events had to be canceled or moved during this day and the previous day due to thunderstorms in the area, but the NHBP community ran everything smoothly as possible and had great communication for their visitors during these unstable times. A special performance by Supaman was held at the FireKeepers Casino Hotel Ballroom at the end of the night. The place was packed with youth and elders both with many smiling faces enjoying his performance.

Friday, July 28, there were still many activities happening from the days before, but some new ones included a Family Fun Day. This was a mini carnival set up with horse rides, bouncy houses, face painting, and all the goodies one would find at a carnival. The children and adults both enjoyed this entertainment to pass the time in the morning. There were again some events that had to be canceled due to weather such as the Fishing Event and Youth Craft Beading. The Basketball Tournament was moved indoors at a local school compared to the outdoor courts. There was an Economic Development Summit, and a Gaming Commission Symposium held at the casino. The highlight of this day was the beginning of the traditional powwow held at each Gathering. This began at 8 pm with Grand Entry and was moved to the FireKeepers Casino Ballroom due to weather in the area. Many were so thankful for this since the temps were in the high 90s with thunderstorms unpredictable. Again, NHBP accommodated everyone present very well.

Saturday, July 29, was the final day of the Gathering for the week. On this day there was a Sobriety Walk that was held with Grand Entry then at 12 p.m. at the Powwow Grounds since the weather was corruptive again — even though hot! A traditional meal was then had for those still in attendance and the final Grand Entry happened at 7 p.m.

The newly-crowned Miss Potawatomi was announced as well being Panno Wahwassuck, she is 14 years old, enrolled Prairie Band and lives in Mayetta, KS. Her parents are Raphael and Adele Wahwassuck and are extremely proud their daughter will be representing the Potawatomi Nation in this coming year.

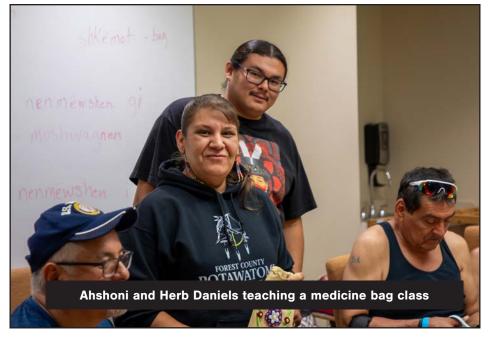

Sunday, July 30, the ashes of the sacred fire were then passed onto the Pokagon Band of Potawatomi who will be hosting the Gathering of Nations in 2024.

Craft workshops that were held during this years Gathering included: Moccasin Making, Applique Bags, Beaded Hair Clips, Hair Pipe Necklaces & Shakers, Medicine Bags, Parfleche Earrings, Chokers, Black Ash Baskets, Ribbon Skirts, Cradle Boards, Birch Bark Medallions, Beaded Hair Clips, Hand Drums, Brick Stitch Earrings and Crochet Classes.

Chi Migwétth to NHBP for hosting this year's Gathering of Nations. It was an obstacle at times dealing with the weather and heat, but you sure did help where needed. From the Forest County Potawatomi Community, we look forward to the next time we can all be together as one again!

Welcome Home Athletes

by Amber Haseman

The 2023 North American Indigenous Games participants were officially welcomed home July 31, 2023. Family, friends, and fans joined the athletes at the Potawatomi Community Center (PCC) cafeteria for ice cream and questions. Brian Tupper, Community Center Director, introduced this year's participants and medalists. A few former NAIG participants joined to celebrate this year's athletes, including Callie Victor (2002 Winnipeg Silver Medalist - Basketball), Evan Shepard (2006 Denver Silver Medalist - Wrestling), Carlton Stealer (2002 Winnipeg Bronze Medalist - Baseball and 2006 Denver Silver Medalist - Baseball), and Anike Sulaimon (2014 Regina Gold Medalist - Basketball and 2017 Toronto Bronze Medalist - Basketball).

After introductions, the audience had the opportunity of asking the athletes questions, such as the difference between playing the Indigenous Games compared to high school sports, how they prepared for the games, their favorite memories, when they started the sports and any words of encouragement they may have for future athletes.

Many of the athletes have been playing since they were very young while others began just this year. Each athlete has worked very hard up until the games, practicing their running form, building fundamentals, swimming all year round, understanding and learning distance in meters, practicing at the gym, and assistance and support from their parents.

A majority of the athletes' favorite memories were the exchanging of pins, meeting different people, making friends, and the entire experience as a whole. Words of encouragement included dreaming big, working hard, doing your best, lead by example, and give it everything you got.

Tupper stated that Wisconsin was the largest state competitor. "This year was quite an accomplishment for us as there were many provinces that were larger. As far as Wisconsin, we are strong in team sports." While some of the athletes were selected as alternates, they continued to practice and were eventually brought on as key members.

PCC's Youth Sports Performance Coach Dixon made a statement to the audience how he is working toward establishing the sports clubs and sports education programs for coaches. He will be building this program to help athletes to not only represent the nation, but across the U.S. as well.

PCC's Division Administrator Matt Steingraber closed the ceremony with a big thanks to Shannon Howerton, PCC director and Potawatomi rep for Team Wisconsin, and Tupper. "Brian not only represented FCP, but the entire state of Wisconsin." He assisted with the preparation of the games, making several trips to Canada, ensuring the athletes were ready for the games up until their departure home.

Most importantly, the parents and grandparents that brought their kids to practices and everything they've done for the athletes to be a part of the Indigenous Games. They wouldn't be where they are today, without you and your support. Let's send a big congratulations and a welcome home to the team, the supporters and to everyone involved with the success of this years games. You sure made your community proud and you should be proud of your accomplishments!

Gemma's Fundraiser

by Amber Haseman

Gemma Frank, 2022 Meno Keno Ma Ge Wen's junior princess held a fundraiser Aug. 3, 2023, from 12-2 p.m. at the Stone Lake C-Store Food Shack. Frank raised funds for this year's outgoing princess special for first through fifth place winners. Prizes are as follows: First - $400, second - $300, third - $200, fourth - $100, fifth - $75. This year's event will be held August 25-27 at the Ka kēw sē Gathering Grounds in Carter, Wis.

Items on the menu included Carnitas Plates featuring two carnitas tacos, side of rice and charro beans; Picky Queen with four tacos, a side of Mexican rice; and a Gordo plate with four carnitas tacos, side of rice and beans. Refreshments were also offered. What a delicious way to raise funds for this year's contestants. Good luck to this year participants!

LNR Open House

by Amber Haseman

The Land and Natural Resource Division beat the heat as they held their Open House Aug. 2, 2023, from 2-7 p.m. Each department displayed their own informational booths regarding services they offer, the variety of programs and projects available, natural resources and all that's provided to the community.

Some of the programs and projects offered include the following: LNR Botany and Wetlands, which incorporates emerald ash bore monitoring, seasonal vegetation surveys, GIS map development and more. Land & Natural Resources Garden Project, taught what compost is, the utilization of conserving water with a rain barrel, determining what is a weed, and planting a variety of vegetables like squash, tomatoes, bell peppers, pumpkins, and cucumbers.

LNR Wildlife Program features the safety of wildlife providing bat houses throughout the community, remodeling with bird-safe windows to prevent collisions and turtle crossing signs. The Outreach and Engagement Department provides the community with seasonal events, after school programs at the Potawatomi Community Center, photo contests, cultural collaboration events, farm-to-table cooking classes, facility tours, and monthly environmental education school visits to local schools.

Visitors gained awareness and knowledge attending the open house. It was an opportunity to understand the work Land and Natural Resource puts in on a day-to-day basis, and the benefits of having the division. A couple booths offered raffles for guests and interactive activities including, identifying the bugs for a chance to win a fishing package, outdoor activities such as axe throwing, cornhole and skeeball, and a visit from cocoa the pig!

The evening ended with a prayer and dinner, featuring farm-fresh ingredients prepared by the one and only Nona Siggelkow. Dinner consisted of pulled pork, beans, pasta salad with fresh veggies, a side of pickled veggies and chips. What a great way to end the day!

Safety Fair

by Amber Haseman

The community gathered for the FCP Safety Fair at the Carter Powwow Grounds July 27, 2023, from 12-3 p.m. The fair was hosted by Health & Wellness Center Community Health Staff and Emergency Management.

Upon arrival, a helicopter landed in a field nearby to join the event. Tours were given to those who were interested. Car safety checks were provided by Child Passenger Safety Technicians to parents who had them available. There was a variety of safety education booths displayed by Community Health, Emergency Management, Land & Natural Resources, Potawatomi Community Center, the Farm and more.

Local first responders were on-site, along with the Laona Rescue Squad and Wabeno Fire Department. Officers from the Forest County Sheriff's Department also joined. Emergency vehicles and an armored sheriff's vehicle was on display for visitors to check out.

Booths displayed information regarding safe disposal of needles and other sharps, kitchen safety tips for families with young children, proper cleaning of vegetables to avoid botulism, bike safety, air pollution, wildland fire safety, summer safety, CPR basic trainings, and Narcan training.

There were many raffle prizes available for adults and children including water bottles, a Nutribullet basket, and bigger raffles for the children featuring a Mongoose skate bike, two bicycles, a helmet, exercise mat and a splash and slide.

Despite the heat, the fair had a decent turn out. Guests left with a bag of items to take home, including safety locks and covers, first-aid kits, fire extinguishers, sunscreen, flashlights and more. Everyone left with a more knowledge, tips, and tricks they'll be able to utilize in the future.

Greenfire Business Spotlight: Building A Legacy of Excellence and Sustainability

Since its inception in 2010, Greenfire Management Services, LLC, has been at the forefront of the construction management industry, driving sustainable solutions and making a positive impact in the communities it serves. With offices in Milwaukee and Wausau, Greenfire's vision aligns with its commitment to improving the places where people live, work, and play.

At the heart of Greenfire's success lies its team of skilled construction professionals, each possessing a wealth of experience across various markets. This expertise has cultivated a culture of excellence and integrity, giving Greenfire an edge in the industry. Clients value the company's emphasis on trust, transparency, and open communication, which fosters strong partnerships and successful project outcomes.

With 56 employees, Greenfire is a construction manager that helps owners understand their project from a budget, schedule and quality point of view. They can provide insight early in the design process to make sure the project is designed within budget and can be built within the schedule. When it comes to bidding the project to subcontractors, it is a completely open book process.

As Greenfire doesn't self-perform any trades, they invite qualified bidders for each discipline and share those bids with the owner to make an informed decision about subcontractor awards. This transparent process gives the owner the best value for their project. Greenfire's core markets encompass a diverse range of sectors, including tribal, multi-family, healthcare, senior living, public sector, industrial, corporate offices, retail, tenant improvements, and education.

Throughout its 13-year journey, Greenfire, its team, and projects have received numerous awards and accolades, including the prestigious American Institute of Architecture Award, BizTimes Milwaukee Notable People recognition, and Midwest Real Estate News Magazine's Top Projects. These honors underscore the company's dedication to delivering exceptional results and pushing the boundaries of innovation in the construction field.

Greenfire's status as a Minority Business Enterprise (MBE) with the State of Wisconsin highlights its commitment to diversity and inclusion, while its ownership by the Potawatomi Business Development Corp connects the company to the values and principles of the Forest County Potawatomi Community.

With a forward-looking approach and an unwavering commitment to excellence, Greenfire is well-poised to leave a lasting legacy of positive change in the construction industry and beyond.

Greenfire Employee Spotlight: Michael Moe

As the Business Development Coordinator at Greenfire, my team and I play a pivotal role in identifying and securing new construction opportunities across diverse markets. I began my journey with Greenfire as a marketing intern, actively contributing to the development of promotional materials, website management, and refining the proposal process. What makes my work even more meaningful is being a member of the Forest County Potawatomi Community, as it allows me to contribute to our tribe and collaborate with other tribally-owned businesses, all while honing my skills in marketing, business, and community development.

Before joining Greenfire, my family's real estate company provided me with a valuable introduction to the industry. Through our endeavors, I cultivated a strong work ethic and gained a foundational understanding of real estate skills. Our projects had a positive impact on the economic growth of neighborhoods, igniting my passion for the real estate field.

During my pursuit of higher education at UW-Milwaukee, with the support of the Forest County Potawatomi Community, I sought to deepen my knowledge in economic diversification, which led me to qualify for multiple internships with the tribe and eventually secure my full-time position at Greenfire.

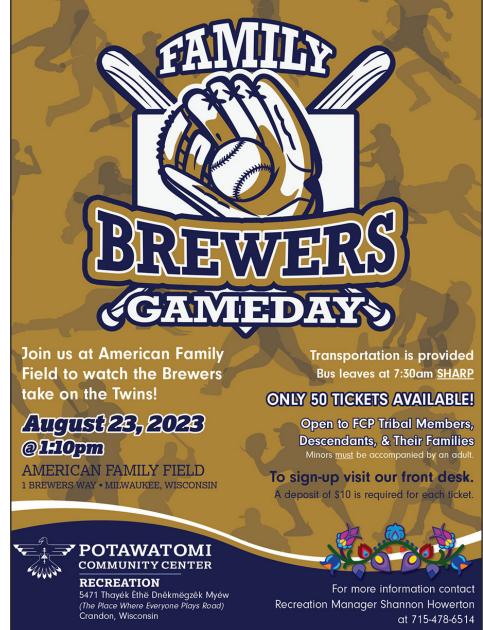

As a member of the Business Development team, I continuously enhance my industry knowledge and align myself with Greenfire's mission, vision, and values. This enables me to effectively identify and pursue new leads, while my analytical skills have become crucial in understanding the intricacies of the real estate market.

Though my career is still in its early stages, my ambition to pursue real estate as my chosen path remains steadfast. My aspirations extend beyond personal growth; I aim to be a valuable resource for tribal and minority real estate professionals, supporting them in developing impactful projects that benefit their communities. Additionally, I am passionate about guiding and empowering future generations interested in real estate.
